Art Unit: 1743

1. Claims 7, 9, 17-18, 20 and 22 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 1 requires that the transponder is arranged outside the absorption material (figures 9-10), which is inconsistent with the transponder being embedded in the material or between two sieves (figures 6-8). It is noted that should these claims be placed in independent form, there are possible double patenting issues.
2. Claims 9-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 9 it is not clear what constitutes an HPLC column. It is also not clear if the separation material is the absorption material or something in addition to the absorption material of claim 1. It also appears that the coupling elements are a further definition of the case of claim 1.
3. Claims 1-6, 13-16, 19 and 21 are allowed. The art of record fails to teach or fairly suggest the structure of claim 1.
4. Claims 9-10 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited patent teaches the use of a transponder to recognize exchangeable parts in an analyzer which could include columns. This reference fails to teach any particular structure for incorporating the transponder into the column.
